

Before the Beginning.

Before the beginning, there was nothing. This nothingness was known as Nihl. As there was nothing, nothing as everything, so nothing was everything and became Pamaya. Pamaya created the CREATOR.

The Almighty Three

. . .

The CREATOR then created the Almighty Three.

- Gojay the High One of all High Anodevines and the High Place (highest Heaven)
- Shajam , the Low One of all Low Anodevines and the Low Place (lowest Hell).
- Omegidin, destined to end the whole universe at the end of time.

Jaeltray (she/he) comes from the blue section of the CREATOR's left eye.

Creation of Heaven.

Gojay created The High Place out of the skin of the CREATOR's body. They made a model out of his clayish skin. This model was not the first human, but in fact the first god.

This god was called Primous (they/them). All other gods created by Gojay are Anodevines and the onodevine gods of mythologies are created by their creation stories.

Primous adopted Jaeltray because it took a liking to her as he was a young child despite being one of the First.

Creation of Hell.

Shajam went to the bottom of the Universe and sat. Blood dropped down from the dead body of the CREATOR, spilling onto Shajam. Shajam made this blood into Hell.

A horrible, fiery, burning abyss of fallen heavenly fire. It was there that Shajam assumed their form of a Dragon covering all of the Low Place.

Creation of Realms.

Each god that Gojay created could create their own mini universes and heavens. These realms made by the gods are known as Godly Realms or more often Primordial Realms. One such god, Zekeriah, thought there was not enough order in the rest of the worlds, so he made a world that abide to completely self-consistent laws of physics. It is our world (as in the one with Earth and all the Universe from that). But he made it so that no magic would work there, but he aloud memories to seek through. It is why we know of some of the gods. But because we know of about 102,000,000,000 deities (by some counts) on this earth alone, and as each one has infinite different versions, it stands to reason that on other planets, no one has ever heard of Zeus, and there are uncountably infinite deities in the multiverse.

Primous created the Everlasting Forest (also known as the Infinite Forest), a forest holding many species, one of which is Silvaan.

Fall of Jaeltray and Zolmis

Zolmis

One time, Gojay, was out in the Fields of Zar when they met someone who called themself Hak. This "Hak" was a split of Shajam, who liked Gojay. Gojay and Hak got to know each other and fell in love.

At this point Hak had good intentions and wanted to be good¹ but knew that Gojay would not accept them as they were, simply because they were the "Low One". They slept together and lived together for a good long time. At one point, Hak told Gojay that they were pregnant. They were very exited and wanted to name the baby "Zolmis" (she/he).

When Zolmis was born, Goja noticed that she had a Low Mark on his back, which represented Demons. Gojay was confused and asked Hak why Zolmis had this mark. Hak confessed that they were a split of Hak. As everyone, even Gojay, are flawed, they got mad that the Mother of Hell was in their bedroom. They shouted and Hak fell. They fell all the way back down to the Low Place. Gojay immediately regretted what they had done, but alas, that split of Shajam was gone and only the insane Shajam was to be found in Hell.

Sjea (sh-j-ea) adopted Zolmis.

First Love...

When Zolmis first saw Jaeltray she fell in love with him. Jaeltray also fell in love with her, but Zolmis's adoptive parent Sjea, and Jaeltray's adoptive parent, Primous, did not agree that the two should get together².

They still sneaked round to places together. This continued for many years, and in fact they slept together many times. One time, Zolmis realised she was pregnant. Zolmis was devastated, she could see no reason of living without her Jaeltray. Sjea told Primous and Primous banned Jaeltray from going out. Next full moon, both lovers jumped from their windows and fell to the bottom of the High Place, below the Heavens, into the Everlasting Forest. They fell far, far apart. When they fell, most of their godly essence came off.

Lovers Unite

Zolmis got angry that she had not died. The ð Rune overtook her and she went mad. She destroyed a section of the Forest, now known as the Bearam. She had her child but was mad so left her nameless with the demons she now led. She changed her name to Demayl.

Jaeltray fell and created such a crater that it got called the Stone Land. They went looking for each other for millennia, but in this time the ð Rune had fully taken over Demayl and she was now the head of a demon clan. Jaeltray was fighting some demons one day, when he was captured and taken to their Queen. She looked at him and said:

*YOO com ow martal, infront o'f me? YoU COME and see me? Jaeltrai????????

"what?"

Nothing. -

"I am Jaeltray"

Jaeltray ! "I have missed you so much! A thousand years, the ð Rune took over me!"*

Jaeltray and Demayl embraced one another. The demons switched their alliance to Demayl and Jaeltray. Their child was lost.
